Curriculum Vitae

19 December 2019

Overview

Through her work in museums, heritage, advocacy and sporting organisations, universities and professional associations, Margaret Birtley has 40 years of professional experience in the not-for-profit sector. She established Margaret Birtley Consulting in 2010 and became an Associate of Significance International Pty Ltd in 2013.

As an educator, Margaret lectured first in early medieval languages, and later in Museum Studies. More recently, she has held honorary roles with the University of South Australia and Deakin University, and now offers training services through her consultancy business.

As a researcher, Margaret directed A Study into the Key Needs of Collecting Institutions in the Heritage Sector (2002), and contributed to Conservation Survey 2006 and the National Standards for Australian Museums and Galleries (2008). She is an expert assessor for the Australian Research Council.

As a manager and leader, Margaret established a secretariat for the Collections Council of Australia Ltd and served as CEO and Company Secretary to the Board. While with the Collections Council, she helped inaugurate Blue Shield Australia, an equivalent of the Red Cross for cultural heritage, and organised many projects and events, including a Summit on digital heritage collections. As the General Manager Heritage and Tourism at the Melbourne Cricket Club (MCC) she held responsibility for the National Sports Museum and Melbourne Cricket Ground Tours as well as the MCC's archives, library and museum. She served the Museums Association of Australia as its Executive Officer in Victoria, and joined the History Council of Victoria as its part-time Executive Officer from late 2013.

As a museum practitioner, Margaret was employed as Manager of Visitor Programs at Scienceworks. She has undertaken a number of voluntary roles with museums, boards and committees, including leadership roles with professional associations. She has provided advice to governments through appointment to several state, national and international advisory committees. She helped Museums Australia to shape a new definition of 'museum', and to write its pioneering guidelines on sustainability – a topic of enduring relevance to the operation of all organisations.

Margaret has completed the Australian Museum Leadership Program. She holds a Graduate Certificate of Management and a Certificate in Governance for Not-for-Profits. She actively maintains her professional knowledge through membership of relevant professional associations, and by attending seminars and conferences.

On Australia Day 2017, Margaret was honoured with the award of Member in the General Division of the Order of Australia (AM) 'for significant service to cultural heritage, particularly to the museums sector, to education, and to historical preservation'.

2005 – 2010 (April)

Chief Executive Officer

Collections Council of Australia Ltd, Adelaide, South Australia

<http://pandora.nla.gov.au/pan/56747/20120504-0833/www.collectionscouncil.com.au/index.html>

Company Description

The Collections Council of Australia (CCA) was established in 2004 by the then Cultural Ministers Council, an intergovernmental forum for ministers responsible for culture and the arts in Australia and New Zealand. The CCA aimed to advance the stability and sustainability of the Australian collections sector, particularly in relation to the gallery, library, archive and museum (GLAM) domains. The small secretariat in Adelaide fulfilled a nation-wide mandate. Following a decision by the Cultural Ministers Council in 2009 to cease its funding of the CCA, the Board resolved to wind up the company. That process was completed in 2010.

Responsibilities

- Representation of the Board's vision, purpose and strategic directions
- Leadership of the CCA's strategic, business and financial planning and reporting
- Management of Board business, as Company Secretary
- Management of the organisation, including financial operations, human resources and administrative systems
- Management of projects, including supervision of consultants
- Acquittal of operational grants ($2,167,106 million) and project grants ($291,000)

Achievements

- Co-ordinated submissions to governments on a wide range of matters affecting the Australian collections sector
- Contributed to reports on conservation employment, collections mapping, convergence, data about the Australian collections sector, digital heritage collections, regional hubs, and sustainability reporting indicators for collecting organisations

Employment History (cont'd)

Collections Council of Australia (cont'd)

- Directed the work of MediaWise as the contract publicist for the CCA
- Convened a Summit on Digital Collections (national conference, 2006)
- Facilitated the Taskforce that developed the inaugural National Standards for Australian Museums and Galleries
- Contributed to the foundation and first 5 years of Blue Shield Australia, an equivalent of the Red Cross for cultural heritage
